Foreword

The Rev. Edward A. Sydenham, whose death we deplore, was not only a keen collector, but a great student to whom numismatic science owes a deep debt of gratitude. My junior by four years, I have known him from the early nineties, and our acquaintance grew into a real friendship. Mr. Mattingly has well said of him: "Sydenham had great capacities as a student, a long experience, a very keen and sure eye for style, and a researcher's passion to know." As a man, his personality, self-effacing manner, his straight-forwardness, and his vast erudition attracted every one who had the good fortune to come across him.

We first met at Sotheby's Auction Rooms, at the time he started his fine collection of Roman Republican coins, about 1900.

He was President of the Royal Numismatic Society from 1937 to 1942, and he has left a number of numismatic publications, most of which have been edited by Spink & Son, Ltd. Chief of these is the treatise on Roman Imperial Coins, compiled in collaboration with Mr. Mattingly, six volumes of which have been published, and a seventh in the press.

The MSS of an important work on the Roman Republican Coinage was left by him, which it is hoped to publish as soon as possible.

It has fallen to me, as a painful duty, to catalogue the Sydenham collections for auction sales, one cannot but regret that some of the series and especially the Roman Republican coins, as also the Antoniniani and Folles of the Roman Empire, from Aurelian to Honorius, so beautifully classified and labelled by the owner should have to be dispersed piece-meal. They deserved to be preserved intact in some Museum, or to be purchased by some private collector, as a monument to the memory of a great English Numismatist.

Mr. Sydenham's private catalogue is a model of the kind, with all the symbols on the Republican coins beautifully drawn by pen and ink.

In cataloguing the coins, I have strictly followed the arrangement and descriptions of this catalogue. I should have liked to describe the coins in the Continental fashion, one by one, as was done with the famous Haeberlin Collection, in Frankfurt, 1932, but auctioneers and dealers in this country cannot spare the time nor the energy to deal with such a large number of single lots. I have, however, endeavoured to help private collectors to acquire individual desiderata, and dealers, by grouping numbers of coins together in lots. By studying both sides, I may have incurred blame, and I can only beg the indulgence of buyers in this matter.

PRICED CATALOGUES
